

MSM PRC, Emory Co-Author Article Published in Journal of GAPHA

MSM's Prevention Research Center and Emory University partners co-authored an article titled "Assessment of the Building Collaborative Research Capacity Model: Bridging the community-academic researcher divide," which was published in the Journal of the Georgia Public Health Association in December 2016. The article explores the processes and outcomes of the Building Collaborative Research Capacity Grant Program designed to foster Community Based Participatory Research (CBPR).

The full text article can be accessed at: <http://www.gapha.org/wp-content/uploads/2016/12/4.pdf>