A Candid Conversation: Gun Violence and Citizen-Police Interactions in Light of the Racial Climate in American Society

In light of the recent tragedies in Baton Rouge, Falcon Heights, and Dallas, the Office of Counseling Services at Morehouse School of Medicine is creating a supportive space to process our thoughts and express our feelings. We aim to foster a sense of clarity and understanding about the impact on our lives, our campus and the society-at-large.

What is really going on?

How do we create and maintain a positive and hopeful approach?

What can we do as a campus community to support each other and our institution?
